IRISH ARMISTICE TERMS PROCLAIMED FORBID FIGHTING AFTER MONDAY NOON

De Valera Will Then Go To London and Unionist Delegate at Friday's Conference Thinks His Proposals Can Be Accepted by Lloyd-George—Big Fact Is That Sinn Fein Consents to Negotiate.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dublin, July 9.—The official terms of the armistice under which all fighting in Ireland will come to an end on Monday noon were made public here today.

Under the terms of the truce the Sinn Feiners agreed to cease all attacks against British forces. The use of arms by Sinn Feiners will be prohibited. Military maneuvers of all kinds by the Irish republican army will cease. The Sinn Feiners further agreed to abstain from interfering with all public and private property. Any action that would tend to disturb the peace and necessitate military intervention will be banned.

On their side the British military authorities agreed to cease all military raids and searches. Military activity will be restricted to supporting the police in carrying out their normal duties. The curfew restrictions are removed when the armistice goes into effect on Monday noon.

Dispatch of further reinforcements from England has been suspended. Police functions in Dublin, hereafter will be carried out solely by police and military will not be used there at all.

London, July 9.—King George today received Lord Midleton in audience. The southern Unionist delegate, who attended yesterday's history-making Irish armistice conference at Dublin, hastened to London over night for the purpose, it is believed, of reporting personally to the monarch.

Interviewed at Holyhead while en route for London, Lord Midleton said: "The object of the Dublin conference was to clear up matters before the London conference could be held. So far as our (the Unionists) part is concerned, we have discharged our duty and created an atmosphere favorable to negotiations between Premier Lloyd-George and Eamonn De Valera."

"The feeling on our side is overwhelmingly in favor of a settlement. It is now entirely a question between Lloyd-George and De Valera."

Lord Midleton expressed the belief that De Valera's terms will be acceptable to the British premier.

Meanwhile the British government was busy preparing for an official visit to the capital by Eamonn De Valera, president of the "Republic of Ireland." The morning press made a certainty what last evening's newspapers had only dared hope to predict, namely, that the stage was set for an official armistice between Britain and Sinn Fein, to go into effect at noon Monday, and to be followed by a general Irish peace conference here in London.

In official circles it was not doubted that De Valera would be here for a few days. It was made plain that he will have all possible facilities and will be permitted to bring whomsoever he desires. No conditions of any sort are to be imposed upon the Sinn Fein chieftain in connection with his visit.

The press generally directed attention today to the guarded and non-committal wording of De Valera's letter to Premier Lloyd-George, but all the leading journals pointed out the big fact remains that he chose the path of negotiations in preference to a continuance of warfare in Ireland. This alone was universally hailed as substantial ground for hope.

Dublin, July 9.—Though news from Cork early today indicated that the negotiations for an armistice in Ireland have not stopped the bitter warfare between Sinn Fein and government forces, the truce which is to go into effect officially at noon Monday was virtually in force here and over the greater part of Erin.

For the first time in years the streets of the capital were not patrolled by government troops today. The city, which even yesterday had the aspect of a forbidden military camp, was permeated today with an atmosphere of friendliness and peace such as is almost unknown to the present generation of inhabitants.

The thoroughfares and public squares were devoid of the usual squads of heavily armed British soldiers to be jeered at by hostile crowds. Indeed, so wondrous is the change in the population's temper that today Sinn Feiners were seen openly fraternizing with British soldiers.

The general feeling in well-informed circles here today was that a week will be sufficient to complete the preliminaries of the conference in London which is to decide whether the truce will be followed by permanent peace.

DeValera arrived at the Mansion house early and immediately conferred with the heads of the Irish republican army about arrangements for making the truce effective Monday noon.

It is believed that all Irish political prisoners will soon be released, the curfew stopped, and court martial be stopped.

PLAN TO COAX BIG TAXPAYERS

Mellon and Penrose Think If Sur-Taxes Are Cut Down Wealthy People Won't Invest in Tax Free Securities—Small Income Will Keep On Paying—May Again Be 3-cent Postage.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—The individual with the small income, the ultimate consumer, need anticipate no relief from taxation in the tax revision program Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is seeking to work out with Republican leaders of congress, members of the senate finance committee were reliably informed today.

It is the administration's purpose to only provide for a reduction of surtaxes above 33 per cent on personal incomes above $75,000 which Mellon plans to prove by treasury statistics are not yielding the large returns generally supposed.

Senator Penrose, the committee chairman, agrees with Mellon that the higher surtaxes ought to be scaled down to the "collection point." If this is done, they contend, the individual with the large income will not seek to evade tax levies by investing in tax free securities.

Retention of some of the minor taxes such as those on amusements and soda water fountain receipts, which vitally concern the "little fellow," is advocated by Mellon, according to information Republican senators are receiving from him, while three cent instead of two cent letter postage is also proposed by him as a revenue raiser which he estimated would produce $70,000,000 a year.

Enactment of a flat income tax of 15 per cent on corporations, intended to raise $400,000,000 annually, and of a stamp tax on bank checks which he estimates would yield $30,000,000 a year, is also described as part of the Mellon tax plan, it is understood.

Repeal of the excess profits tax and revision of the sales tax is another phase of it.

President Harding is said by Republican senators with whom he has discussed the tax situation recently to be planning a message to congress which he hopes will prepare the American people for the stark, unvarnished fact facing the administration that any reduction in the gross amount of taxation in the near future is highly improbable.

It is considered likely that the president may stress this fact in the message regarding his reasons for seeking postponement of the soldiers bonus bill which congress expects to receive from him next week.

Mellon stated in his letter to Senator Frelinghuysen, Republican of New Jersey, in opposition to passage of the bill at this time that "it is a matter of grave concern" to the treasury as to the amount of revenue that will be received in 1922. Republican senators closely allied with the administration state that it is also a "matter of grave concern" to the administration as to how it can avoid new tax levies, and at the same time find revenue to meet the $4,000,000,000 it figures it will cost to run the government during the current fiscal year.

MUZZLE FREE SPEECH FRIDAY

It will not be necessary for the Rev. A. S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church to obtain the written permission of Mayor Canfield to address the open air meeting in front of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening as the ordinance muzzling free speech and vesting absolute power in Mayor Canfield does not become effective until next Friday evening.

The free speech muzzling ordinance was printed Friday evening and appears again next Friday in The Freeman at which time it goes into full force and effect. This means that if the Y. M. C. A. holds an open air meeting a week from Sunday evening someone must first secure the permission of the mayor.

These open air gospel services are proving very popular. Sunday evening will be the second of the series.

SHOWERS ARE AGAIN POSSIBLE

But Weather Man Won't Promise Any Definite Relief Yet From Hot, Dry Spell—Not Quite So Much Humidity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—The United States weather bureau refused to come to the rescue of a suffering and sweltering country today with any prediction or promise of a break in the heat wave which already has caused many deaths throughout the United States.

"There is not much change," was the weather forecaster's doleful message. "There may be a slight lessening of the temperature in the middle Atlantic and New England regions tonight, with possibilities of local showers tomorrow, but if any relief is provided it probably will be of a temporary nature."

New York, July 9.—A vague hope of thunder showers is the only visible relief in sight today from the heat and humidity in which New York has been beset for a week. The indications were that today would be even hotter than yesterday.

Central and Riverside Parks bore the appearance of refugee camps this morning, with hundreds of families sleeping on the grass. Thousands of persons slept on piers, roofs and fire escapes last night. The beach at Coney Island was an exceedingly popular dormitory too.

Although yesterday was exceedingly uncomfortable it was not the hottest day of the summer, the mercury sticking in the vicinity of 90 degrees. Nor were there any deaths directly attributable to the heat, though more than a dozen, including drownings were indirectly ascribed to it.

Baltimore, July 9.—The 800 Maryland national guardsmen encamped at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, were wondering today whether their officers would send them swimming or take them back to the drill field and rifle range where yesterday 104 of their number were overcome by the heat. The mercury went slightly over the 100 mark yesterday and today bids fair to be even warmer.

Two deaths and nine prostrations, ascribable to the heat, have been recorded in the city.

CITY IS STILL IN HEAT'S GRIP

With thermometers along the Strand registering 76 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, and indications that today would be as hot as Thursday and Friday, the city is still sweltering under the heat wave that struck the entire country last Sunday.

One of the most popular places these hot days is the bathing beach at Kingston Point and Friday afternoon and evening hundreds were in bathing.

The weather man on Friday promised showers for today but this morning there was no indication that the promised relief was in sight. More men were seen today without their coats than those wearing coats as style was sacrificed in the interests of comfort.

So hot was it Friday afternoon that the men on the yards were forced to knock off work. On some of the yards the men begin work at an early hour in the morning, and quit work earlier in the afternoon.

As far as can be learned no heat prostrations were reported Friday. All of the ice cream and soft drink resorts reported a big business.

JANITOR FIRED UP

And Gave Advance Building Tenants Something New.

With the mercury shooting well up toward the top of the tube there were numerous discussions as to where the hottest spot in Kingston was Friday. It may have been hot but at least one office building in Kingston had steam heat throughout the building and undoubtedly held the record for being the hottest spot in town. Early in the morning the janitor of the Advance Building on Wall street decided that the building ought to be cleared of a quantity of rubbish which had accumulated during the summer and so he proceeded to clean up. The rubbish was stowed away in the furnace and then in order to make a good job he decided that the furnace should be cleaned too. Presently there was a good fire going and the steam radiators began to warm up much to the comfort (?) of the tenants in the building. Until the cause was learned by the tenants there was considerable excitement as to why the building was so warm and snug so early in the morning after a cool refreshing night.

PUBLIC MARKET WILL OPEN JULY 19 WITH W. J. MOYLE IN CHARGE

Will Be Located at Field Court—Board of Market Control Finishes Arrangements—Householders and Retailers May Buy Produce and Vegetables Direct From Producer.

The board of market control met Friday evening at the city hall and made arrangements for the opening of a public market in the city. The market will be located adjoining the Staples lot on Field Court and will be opened on July 19. The hours fixed were 5 in the morning to 12 o'clock noon (standard time) each day during the remainder of July, beginning with the 19th, and during August and probably September.

Mayor Canfield has appointed William J. Moyle, commissioner of public markets of the city, and he will act as market master. Mr. Moyle has been sealer of weights and measures for a number of years and will continue in such capacity. In his capacity as sealer he has gained a general knowledge of market affairs.

As many of the larger producers of the vicinity of the city have agreed to patronize the market exclusively, it is quite assured that it will meet with success. Farm produce and vegetables will be sold to all consumers, including the householder and retailer. Each vendor will be allotted a space for which he will pay 25 cents each day for each vehicle. A set of rules and regulations were adopted, which will be published later.

The board of market control consists of Mayor Canfield, Robert J. Harder, Louis W. Walker, Edward W. Hathaway, William P. Lehr and William Schryver.

ANGLO-JAP PACT BUSIES PREMIERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—Statesmen attending the Imperial Dominion Conference were today gathered at Chequers, Premier Lloyd-George's country estate, discussing the Anglo-Japanese alliance with particular reference to America's relation to that pact.

In well informed quarters, it was believed possible today that Great Britain may take the initiative in proposing a conference between the three countries and China, upon the far eastern question. While officials expressed the view that America would accept such a proposal favorably, they declared that thus far no suggestion to that effect has been made.

Dr. Wellington Koo, former Chinese minister to the United States, declared today that while he had discussed the subject informally with Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, Britain had made no proposals. He added he had received no instructions from his home government regarding China's attitude toward a conference between the four powers.

The railroad workers are believed to have the support of other unions.

The governor of Tamaulipas, announced today that he would withdraw from the oil zone all unemployed workers and that the state would grant them aid.

Mexican officials declared today that reports of American casualties in violent fighting at the Zacamitla oil camp was given out by a certain American company and that efforts to substantiate these reports have failed.

PENN. R. R. DEFIES U. S. LABOR BOARD

Serves Notice That It Will Conduct Negotiations With Men "In Own Way"—Attitude Expected To Hamper Country-wide Settlement—Comes Out For "Open Shop."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 9.—Union officials and observers of the trend of affairs in the railroad labor situation today regarded the action of the Pennsylvania Railroad in openly declaring it would conduct its own negotiations with its employes on an "open shop" basis as presenting a serious obstacle to the harmonious settlement of the railway labor controversy.

Attempts are being made by officials of the various railway labor organizations with the railway heads between now and September 1 at which definite agreements to working rules and conditions will be reached. The unions have made acceptance of the wage cut which became effective July 1, contingent upon a satisfactory outcome of these conferences.

Refusal of the Pennsylvania to consider itself bound by any rules or orders of the United States Railway Labor Board or the federated shop crafts, it is feared, will cause other roads to adopt a firmer stand against bargaining with the labor organizations.

The Pennsylvania made clear its attitude late yesterday when representatives of the shop crafts on the Pennsylvania charged before the United States Railway Labor Board that rules of the board were being violated by that road. E. T. White, counsel for the Pennsylvania, replied by criticizing openly several of the rulings of the board and by declaring "we will conduct our negotiations in our own way."

BRITISH REJECT KEMAL'S TERMS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—The British answer to Mustapha Kemal, Turkish Nationalist leader, who has sent an arrogantly defiant message to the entente power with regard to their offer of mediation in the Turco-Greek war, is couched in extremely terse tone. It was learned today.

Britain in her answer controverts Kemal's version of the mediation offer and adds that the proposal holds good within the clear-cut limits laid down in the original communication. "The Turkish 'insurgent' leader is further told that the conditions he imposes cannot be considered."

The board also discussed the question of laying Willite in that street, but no definite action was taken.

The board then adjourned.

PLAN TO COAX BIG TAXPAYERS

Mellon and Finance Think If Sur-Taxes Are Cut Down Wealthy People Won't Invest in Tax Free Securities—Small Income Will Keep On Paying—May Again Be 3-cent Postage.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—The individual with the small income, the ultimate consumer, need anticipate no relief from taxation in the tax revision program Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is seeking to work out with Republican leaders of congress, members of the senate finance committee were reliably informed today.

It is the administration's purpose to only provide for a reduction of surtaxes above 33 per cent on personal incomes above $75,000 which Mellon plans to prove by treasury statistics are not yielding the large returns generally supposed.

Senator Pease, the committee chairman, agrees with Mellon that the higher surtaxes ought to be scaled down to the "collection point." If this is done, he contends, the individual with the large income will not seek to evade tax levies by investing in tax free securities.

Retention of some of the minor taxes such as those on amusements and soda water fountain receipts, which vitally concern the "little fellow," is advocated by Mellon, according to information Republican senators are receiving from him, while three cent instead of two cent letter postage is also proposed by him as a revenue raiser which he estimated would produce $70,000,000 a year.

Enactment of a flat income tax of 15 per cent on corporations, intended to raise $400,000,000 annually, and of a stamp tax on bank checks, which he estimates would yield $90,000,000 a year, is also described as part of the Mellon tax plan. It is understood.

Repeal of the excess profits tax and revision of the sales tax is another phase of it.

President Harding is said by Republican senators with whom he has discussed the tax situation recently to be planning a message to congress which he hopes will prepare the American people for the stark, unvarnished fact facing the administration that any reduction in the gross amount of taxation in the near future is highly improbable.

It is considered likely that the president may stress this fact in the message regarding his reasons for seeking postponement of the soldiers bonus bill which congress expects to receive from him next week.

MUZZLE FREE SPEECH FRIDAY

It will not be necessary for the Rev. A. S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church to obtain the written permission of Mayor Canfield to address the open air meeting in front of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening as the ordinance muzzling free speech and vesting absolute power in Mayor Canfield does not become effective until next Friday evening.

The free speech muzzling ordinance was printed Friday evening and appears again next Friday in the Freeman at which time it goes into full force and effect. This means that if the Y. M. C. A. holds an open air meeting a week from Sunday evening someone must first secure the permission of the mayor.

These open air gospel services are proving very popular. Sunday evening will be the second of the series.

SHOWERS ARE AGAIN POSSIBLE

But Weather Men Won't Promise Any Definite Relief Yet From Hot, Dry Spell—Not Quite So Much Humidity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—The United States weather bureau refused to come to the rescue of a suffering and sweltering country today with any prediction or promise of a break in the heat wave which already has caused many deaths throughout the United States.

"There is not much change," was the weather forecaster's doleful message. "There may be a slight lessening of the temperature in the middle Atlantic and New England regions tonight, with possibilities of local showers tomorrow, but if any relief is provided it probably will be of a temporary nature."

New York, July 9.—A vague hope of thunder showers is the only visible relief in sight today from the heat and humidity in which New York has been beset for a week. The indications were that today would be even hotter than yesterday.

Central and Riverside Parks bore the appearance of refugee camps this morning, with hundreds of families sleeping on the grass. Thousands of persons slept on piers, roofs and fire escapes last night. The beach at Coney Island was an exceedingly popular dormitory too.

Although yesterday was exceedingly uncomfortable it was not the hottest day of the summer, the mercury sticking in the vicinity of 90 degrees. Nor were there any deaths directly attributable to the heat, though more than a dozen, including drownings were indirectly ascribed to it.

Baltimore, July 9.—The 800 Maryland national guardsmen camped at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, were wondering today whether their officers would send them swimming or take them back to the drill field and rifle range where yesterday 104 of their number were overcome by the heat.

The mercury went slightly over the 100 mark yesterday and today bids fair to be even warmer.

CITY IS STILL IN HEAT'S GRIP

With thermometers along the Strand registering 76 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning, and indications that today would be as hot as Thursday and Friday, the city is still sweltering under the heat wave that struck the entire country last Sunday.

One of the most popular places these hot days is the bathing beach at Kingston Point and Friday afternoon and evening hundreds were in bathing.

The weather man on Friday promised showers for today but this morning there was no indication that the promised relief was in sight. More men were seen today without their coats than those wearing coats as style was sacrificed in the interests of comfort.

So hot was it Friday afternoon that the men on the boat yards were forced to knock off work. On some of the yards the men begin work at an early hour in the morning, and quit work earlier in the afternoon.

As far as can be learned no heat prostrations were reported Friday. All of the ice cream and soft drink resorts reported a big business.

With the mercury shooting well up toward the top of the tube there were numerous discussions as to where the hottest spot in Kingston was Friday. It may have been hot but at least one office building in Kingston had steam heat throughout the building and undoubtedly held the record for being the hottest spot in town.

Early in the morning the janitor of the Advance Building on Wall street decided that the building ought to be cleared of a quantity of rubbish which had accumulated during the summer and so he proceeded to clean up. The rubbish was piled up in the street and then in order to make a good job he decided that the furnace should be cleaned too. Presently there was a good fire going and the steam radiators began to warm up much to the comfort of the tenants in the building.

Until the case was settled by the tenants there was considerable excitement as to whether the building was so warm and so hot in the morning after a cool refreshing night.

PUBLIC MARKET WILL OPEN JULY 19 WITH W. J. MOYLE IN CHARGE

Will Be Located at Field Court—Board of Market Control Finishes Arrangements—Householders and Retailers May Buy Produce and Vegetables Direct From Producer.

The board of market control met Friday evening at the city hall and made arrangements for the opening of a public market in the city. The market will be located adjoining the Staples lot on Field Court and will be opened on July 19. The hours fixed were 6 in the morning to 12 o'clock noon (standard time) each day during the remainder of July, beginning with the 15th, and during August and probably September.

Mayor Canfield has appointed William J. Moyle, commissioner of public markets of the city, and he will act as market master. Mr. Moyle has been sealer of weights and measures for a number of years and will continue in such capacity. In this capacity as sealer he has gained a general knowledge of market affairs.

As many of the larger producers of the vicinity of the city have agreed to patronize the market voluntarily, it is quite assured that it will meet with success. Farm produce and vegetables will be sold to all consumers, including the householder and retailer. Each vendor will be allotted a space for which he will pay 25 cents each day for each vehicle. A set of rules and regulations were adopted, which will be published later.

The board of market control consists of Mayor Canfield, Robert J. Harder, Louis W. Walker, Edward W. Hathaway, William F. Lehr and William Schryver.

ANGLO-JAP PACT BUSIES PREMIERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—Statesmen attending the Imperial Dominion Conference were today gathered at Chequers, Premier Lloyd-George's country estate, discussing the Anglo-Japanese alliance with particular reference to America's relation to that pact.

In well informed quarters, it was believed possible today that Great Britain may take the initiative in proposing a conference between the three countries and China, upon the far eastern question. While officials expressed the view that America would accept such a proposal favorably, they declared that thus far no suggestion to that effect has been made.

Dr. Wellington Koo, former Chinese minister to the United States, declared today that while he had discussed the subject informally with Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, Britain had made no proposals. He added he had received no instructions from his home government regarding China's attitude toward a conference between the four powers.

PROTEST U. S. SHIPS AT TAMPICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, July 9.—Railroad unions representing 35,000 workers today sent a message to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, requesting that he protest to the American government against the presence of the United States warships off Tampico which the unions consider "an attack on Mexico's national dignity." The railroad workers are believed to have the support of other unions.

The governor of Tamaulipas, announced today that he would withdraw from the oil zone all unemployed workers and that the state would grant them aid.

Mexican officials declared today that reports of American gunboats in violent fighting at the Zacaquilillo oil camp was a lie and that a certain American company and that efforts to substantiate these reports have failed.

STILL SEIZED. Alleged "Mountain Lion" Maker Also Had Some Skunk Skins.

Game Protector Harry T. Ashton with the assistance of Sergeant G. A. Benson and Corporal Lester Bismack of the state troopers made a successful raid at 2 o'clock Friday morning on the farm and boarding house of Michael Gordon on the road between Garfield and Greenville Center. A complete still for making whiskey, 10 gallons of malt and a gallon of whiskey ready for use were found also three skunk skins, possession of which without a permit is a violation of the state game law. Justice Henry O'Keefe, of Greenville, held Gordon on a $1,000 bail. Bail not being furnished he was brought to the Greenville jail in custody to await the action of the grand jury.

PENN. R. R. DEFIES U. S. LABOR BOARD

Serves Notice That It Will Conduct Negotiations With Men "In Own Way"—Attitude Expected To Hamper Country-wide Settlement—Comes Out For "Open Shop."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 9.—Union officials and observers of the trend of affairs in the railroad labor situation today regarded the action of the Pennsylvania Railroad in openly declaring it would conduct its own negotiations with its employees on an "open shop" basis as presenting a serious obstacle to the harmonious settlement of the railway labor controversy.

Attempts are being made by officials of the various railway labor organizations to bring about conferences with the railway heads between now and September 1 at which definite agreements to working rules and conditions will be reached. The unions have made acceptance of the wage cut which became effective July 1, contingent upon a satisfactory outcome of these conferences.

Refusal of the Pennsylvania to consider itself bound by any rules or orders of the United States Railway Labor Board or the federated shop crafts, it is feared, will cause other roads to adopt a firmer stand against bargaining with the labor organizations.

The Pennsylvania made clear its attitude late yesterday when representatives of the shop crafts on the Pennsylvania charged before the United States Railway Labor Board that rules of the board were being violated by that road. E. T. Waite, counsel for the Pennsylvania, replied by criticizing openly several of the rulings of the board and by declaring "we will conduct our negotiations in our own way."

BRITISH REJECT KEMAL'S TERMS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—The British answer to Mustafa Kemal, Turkish Nationalist leader, who has sent an arrogantly defiant message to the entente power with regard to their offer of mediation in the Tarco-Greek war, is couched in extremely terse tone. It was learned today.

Audience Will Now Stand.
Oh, say, can you sing from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when the orchestra plays it?
When the whole congregation, in voices that blend,
Strike up the grand tune and then torture and shew it
How valiant they shout when they're first starting out,
But "The dawn's early light" find they're floundering about;
'Tis "The Star Spangled Banner" they're trying to sing
But they don't know the words of the precious brave thing.
Hark, "The twilight's last gleaming" has some of them stopped,
But the valiant survivors press forward severely
To "the ramparts we watched" when some others are dropped,
And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.
Then "the rocket's red glare" give the bravest a scare,
And Queen's few left to face "the bomb's bursting air."
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save.
The last of the verse and "the home of the brave."

The only reason hair dressers are not as talkative as barbers is because hair dressers' customers can hold their own.

A Fable.

Once upon a time there was a Fair Jane who had managed to snare two young men at the same time, which is considerable feat, considering what the competition is nowadays. And one of these birds was the Son of his Father, and that was all he did for a living. Father had a Nickel for every drop of water in Lack Michigan, and Son enjoyed an Allowance that sounded like the annual income of the Standard Oil Company. And son's name was Elmer.

Now the other part of this here sketch was a lad named Willyum. He worked hard every day at the glue factory and pulled down $4.30, every night, with time and a half for overtime.

Elmer had an automobile as long as from here to Newburgh with more cylinders than Galli Curci had notes. Willyum had a second-hand flivver that he had bought himself.

Now both these yokels asked Little Bright Eyes to go riding on the same evening.

She went to her handsome Border, and sat on the Chair, Linage, and said: "It is quite true that Elmer has a wonderful motah, but his Father has to give it to him. I would be the envy of every Jane in the village if I went riding with him, but he did not earn the motah by the sweat of his brow. Willyum's flivver looks like something the junk man found in the alley, but he bought it all himself. Therefore, I will go with Willyum, seeing Elmer and the Princely Gifts that he did not earn."

No longer do they have to ache and suffer from rubbing and dragging the clothes over the washboard every week to remove the last particle of dirt so that you and I may have clean garments and fresh linen.

THE CELEBRATED 1900 CATARACT WASHER

Preferred by housewives all over the country because of its principle the way it washes. Forcing the water back and forth through the clothes duplicates the work of human hands, but without the wear and tear of rubbing and rasping the clothes on the board, yet you have got to have action, and lots of it to wash some things clean. We say the figure eight principle will do it for you. The big things that count as well as the very finest, as there are no moving parts that come in contact with the clothes, with nothing to lift in and out in order to clean the tank it makes it the perfect Washing Machine. It is not necessary to wash the Washer after you have washed the clothes. Perhaps you already know this, and are enjoying the use of a 1900 CATARACT WASHER and have often said "you would not be without it for the world." No more back breakings, no more worry, whether the laundress is coming or not. You really believe it is an absolute necessity in your home, but have you thought of the many friends and acquaintances who do not enjoy this wonderful labor saving device.

Beginning June 27 to July 9 Inclusive

Brotherhood Among Men.

In every period and in every society there exists an understanding of the meaning of life which represents the highest level to which the men of that society have attained—an understanding defining the highest good at which that society aims. The religious perception of our time, in its widest application, is the consciousness that our well-being, both material and spiritual, lies in the growth of brotherhood among all men—in their loving harmony one with another.—Tolstoy.

STATE WINS IN APPELLATE COURT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., July 9.—The state of New York won 34 out of 43 cases decided by the appellate division of the supreme court, third department, yesterday. The number of successfully prosecuted cases constitutes a record in the appellate courts for the state.

Among the important litigations decided by the appellate division was the test claim of John Heinoman, a special agent of the state excise department, who instituted an action to recover against the state for the loss of his salary which was expunged from the appropriation bill. The appellate division sustained the contention of attorney general Charles D. Newton that Heinoman had no cause of action. The effect of this decision will be effectively to dispose of the claims of some 200 agents whose salaries were cut out of the budget.

The American Karakul Fur Sheep Company of Syracuse, organized to promote the production of high grade Persian lamb fur and astrachan in this country by the development of Karakul sheep, now raised only in Afghanistan, lost its suit for $16,000 for damages to its flock by dogs in 1917 and 1918, in a decision by the appellate division. This concern sought to recover from the state after dogs had made serious depredations among its flock.

WET PARADE FAILURE

Says Local Reformer Who Calls For Observance of Law.

Editor, Kingston Freeman:—It would seem that the events of this week should not pass without having attention called to them. For weeks and even months the papers of New York city most of them as wet as the Atlantic ocean, (whether made so by the brewers and distillers' gold, or by their own depravity) have announced that on July 4, birth of the nation, when love for our country should have a new birth they would have a demonstration which would show the nation that the eighteenth amendment was not binding on the people, or, at least, was repudiated by our citizens. A campaign was organized to get people and organizations to sign up to march with a great company who were opposed to Prohibition.

They even went so far as to state that over 200,000 had pledged themselves to march in the parade and as others would come, they would have at least a quarter of a million in line.

Their courage began to fail them a trifle but one that day preceding the demonstration they declared that there would be 100,000 in line. But the glorious Fourth came but the people did not, and the "World" of New York, which could not be any wetter if owned by the liquor traffic—and indeed some think it is—declared there were but 12,000 who marched under the banners which proclaimed defiance to law.

The forces which stand for Prohibition and righteousness could not have staged anything which would have strengthened their cause as much as this.

The "World" also admitted that nine out of every ten were foreigners, and now past middle life—evidently derelicts of the heretofore drinking masses. It was a clear illustration of Psalm 2, 4, "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh; the Lord shall leave them in derision." And there is another scripture passage, "He will make the wrath of men praise Him." If ever the Prohibition forces should take courage it is now. Evidently all necessary money to stage this monster demonstration was at hand; personal liberty doctrines were shouted from the house tops, almost all the debauched press of the metropolis heralded its coming from day to day and the mayor gave it his blessing and stood to review the march and with everything humanly speaking, done which could be done, it was a flat failure.

The temperance forces with a half million of dollars would have been unable to do this cause as much good.

The eighteenth amendment has come to stay, notwithstanding the ravings of depraved men. Some of them with a name and standing which should place them in better company than they have selected.

I wish to add one word more—We are passing through a season of great lawlessness and crimes. Has it occurred to those who by precept and example have defied the eighteenth amendment that when one law is invoked against in high places, that other laws will become cheap to those who are inclined to lawlessness, and that any or all of them will be broken?

Without question the wholesale attempt by the press to make people break the eighteenth amendment has led to this reign of lawlessness and crime.

PUBLIC UTILITY SECURITIES

Public Utility Securities are rapidly gaining favor with conservative investors. This is based largely upon the broad and constructive position taken by the various State Commissioners. The following recent quotations from various Commissions will be of interest:

ARIZONA: "We do not believe that it was intended that the regulatory powers vested in this Commission should be used to the disadvantage or inequity of the public utilities of the State and we believe we can render a greater service to the citizenship by giving rates which, while they are just and reasonable to the public, will enable the company to maintain a standard of service fully equal to the public necessities and provide for extensions of service, which will encourage rather than retard the growth and development of the State."

ILLINOIS: "Besides the cost of money, which varies with the prices of other commodities, it appears reasonable to reward management of a public utility

The above extracts of opinions of public utility commissions throughout the United States should prove of the greatest interest to the people of Kingston for the reason that this Company is now facing the necessity of spending a large amount of money to make its gas and electric service safe and adequate.

The only way in which it can raise the necessary funds is by the sale of its securities. Application is being made to the Public Service Commission for permission to issue such securities and it is of the utmost importance to every citizen, as well as to the city itself, that the Company succeed in doing so.

enterprise in proportion to results achieved, a proportion based upon sound business principles and economic laws, and a principle that has heretofore been recognized by this Commission."

NEW JERSEY: "To attract new capital to a utility it is, in my opinion, essential that the purchasing power of the present return should be commensurate with the purchasing power of the fair return which attracted capital to the utility originally."

MONTANA: "Despite abundant power, no one else seems willing to undertake the hazard of developing it, and those who have made the risk are entitled, as a minimum, to a fair return upon their investment."

IN THE MOVIES, WHEN THE HERO DISCOVERS THE TRAIN LEAVES IN THREE MINUTES—

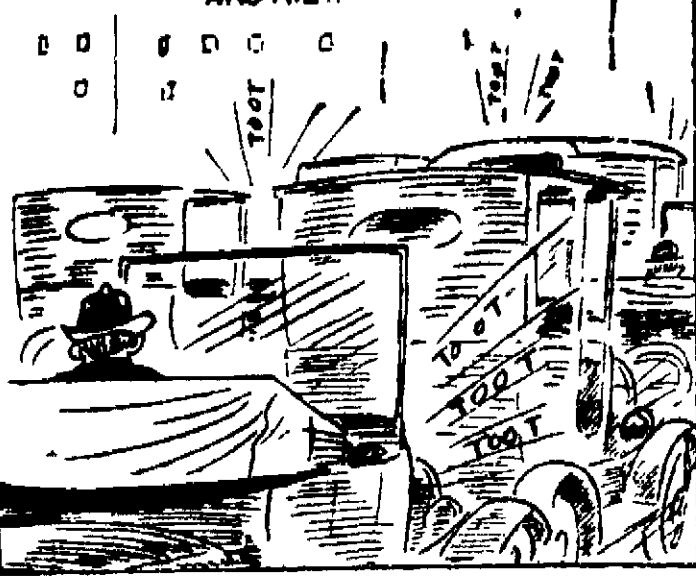

HE DASHES OUT TO HIS EVERREADY (THE ENGINE IS ALWAYS RUNNING)

AND DRIVES MADLY THRU MILES AND MILES OF UNOBSTRUCTED STREETS AND ARRIVES ON TIME—

BUT WHEN EVER WE'VE BEEN IN A HURRY WE RUN INTO ONE TRAFFIC JAM AFTER ANOTHER—

The Audience Will Now Stand.
Oh, say, can you stand from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when the orchestra plays it?
When the whole congregation, in voices that burst,
Stalls up the grand tune and then turns around to sing,
How valiant they stand when they're first starting out.
But "The dawn's early light" find they're wondering about;
"The Blue Star Spangled Banner" they're trying to sing,
But they don't know the words of the precious brave thing.
Hark, "The twilight's last gleaming" has come of them stopped,
But the valiant survivors press forward bravely
To "The ramparts we watched" when some others are dropped,
And the lion of the leaders is manifest lately,
Then "The rocket's red glare" give the bravest a scare,
And there's few left to face "The bomb's bursting air."
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save,
The last of the verse and "The home of the brave."

A Fable.

Once upon a time there was a Fair Jane who had managed to snare two young men at the same time, which is considerable feat, considering what the competition is nowadays. And one of these birds was the Son of his Father, and that was all he did for a living. Father had a Nickel for every drop of water in Lack Michigan, and Son enjoyed an Allowance that sounded like the annual income of the Standard Oil Company. And son's name was Elmer.

Now the other part of this here sketch was a lad named William. He worked hard every day at the glue factory and pulled down $4.20 a week, with time and a half for overtime.

Elmer had an automobile as long as from here to Newburgh with more cylinders than Gull's Gull had notes. William had a second-hand silver that he had bought himself.

Now both these Yokels asked Little Bright Eyes to go riding on the same evening.

She went to her handsome Border, and sat on the Chase Lounge, and said: "It is quite true that Elmer has a wonderful motor, but his Father has to give it to him. I would be the envy of every Jane in the village if I went riding with him, but he did not earn the motor by the sweat of his brow. William's silver looks like something the junk man found in the alley, but he bought it all himself. Therefore, I will go with William, securing Elmer and the Princely Gifts that he did not earn."

HUMAN HANDS

No longer do they have to ache and suffer from rubbing and dragging the clothes over the washboard every week to remove the last particle of dirt so that you and I may have clean garments and fresh linen.

THE CELEBRATED 1900 CATARACT WASHER

Preferred by housewives all over the country because of its principle the way it washes. Forcing the water back and forth through the clothes duplicates the work of human hands, but without the wear and tear of rubbing and rasping the clothes on the board, yet you have got to have action, and lots of it to wash some things clean. We say the figure eight principle will do it for you. The big things that count as well as the very finest, as there are no moving parts that come in contact with the clothes, with nothing to lift in and out in order to clean the tank it makes it the perfect Washing Machine. It is not necessary to wash the Washer after you have washed the clothes. Perhaps you already know this, and are enjoying the use of a 1900 CATARACT WASHER and have often said "you would not be without it for the world." No more back breakings, no more worry, whether the laundry is coming or not. You really believe it is an absolute necessity in your home, but have you thought of the many friends and acquaintances who do not enjoy this wonderful labor saving device.

Beginning June 27 to July 9 Inclusive

We are going to have a special selling campaign. Perhaps you can send us the names of some of your friends that are thinking of having a new Washer.

Brotherhood Among Men.

In every period and in every society there exists an understanding of the meaning of life which represents the highest level to which the soul of that society has attained—no understanding defining the highest good at which that society aims. The religious perception of our time, in its widest application, is the consciousness that our well-being both material and spiritual lies in the growth of brotherhood among all men—in their loving harmony one with another.—Tolstoy.

THE MAYOR'S DEFENSE.

Mayor Canfield defends his gag-law ordinance on four grounds:

First—He already holds the power conferred by the ordinance. If so, why is the ordinance necessary?

Second—The ordinance does not apply to churches "or any indoor meetings." Interesting if true. But why does it give him control over certain specified areas "or other place?"

Third—Other cities have such ordinances. Because other cities have been caught napping by insidious self-appointed regulators, must Kingston submit tamely to regulatory chloroform and gag?

Fourth—Courts have approved such ordinances. Courts approved of slavery, in the Dred Scott case. Do the people approve?

THE VOLUNTARY MUZZLER.

After reading the drastic ordinance which the common council has adopted to regulate public speaking and public gatherings in Kingston "to which the public are invited or have access," it is surprising to find the modest powers conferred on Congress by Article I of the amendments to the Constitution of the United States, which is as follows: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

How proud every Kingstonian must be as he contemplates the far greater power possessed by Kingston's aldermen and mayor who have decreed that: "No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assemblage within the city, without a written permit from the mayor, who may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety."

To be an alderman in Kingston is a greater privilege than to be a Congressman. The mayor of Kingston can exercise authority over individuals which the President of the United States may well envy. Such arbitrary power is unknown outside of Bolshevik Russia and Kingston.

If President Harding and Congress have privately requested the mayor and aldermen to regulate public speaking and public meetings in Kingston and not elsewhere, there must be a reason. What has Kingston done to forfeit the right of free speech and free assemblage? By what right does the mayor become sole judge of what sort of public speech and public assemblage are "advisable for the public peace and safety?"

PERMITS FOR PICNICS.

An Ulster county picnic is planned to be held in Kingston during the summer. If Mayor Canfield approves it, it is hoped to have some eminent speakers, provided anyone of eminence can be found who will doff his hat while he stands before the mayor and humbly applies for a permit which will enable him to "make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assemblage within the city."

The mayor "may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety."

How will the mayor deem what is advisable "for the public peace and safety?"

Fourteen men elected by the voters of this city to represent them may laugh and joke over the prospect. Do they intend that the law shall be ignored or that the mayor shall connive at a violation? As soon as it is signed and newspaper publication is completed, the drastic ordinance adopted by the common council Tuesday night will be the law, so far as Kingston is concerned.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican unofficial county convention will fulfill its unique duty again this year, presumably in Kingston, as in other years. But this year the convention cannot be held unless someone first obtains "a written permit from the mayor." The convention is a gathering "to which the public are invited or have access." In another way, also, the convention will be unique because "No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assemblage within the city, without a written permit from the mayor, who may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety." Following the usual procedure, the city delegates will organize the city convention immediately after the county convention adjourns, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for nomination for mayor in the September primary. Unless Kingston city and the county of Ulster are lost to all sense of shame, there will be no proceedings on convention day "without a written permit from the mayor." The Republican party stands for law and order here as well as elsewhere, and the common council of Kingston has decreed that that shall be the law for Kingston.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

A celebration is in contemplation at the time of the opening of the Rondout Creek bridge after the completion of the structure and the highway which will connect it with the existing state highway at Port Ewen. Unless the celebration is held on the Esopus shore, there cannot be any "parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration" "to which the public are invited or have access" unless it is first "authorized by a written permit from the mayor." And nobody may be allowed to speak at the celebration, unless it is held on the Esopus side, "without a written permit from the mayor, who may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety." Will the "terms and conditions" imposed on the licensed speakers include "history as it should be written?" It is too bad the cornerstone has been laid; the "written permit of the mayor" ought to be with the coins and other exhibits enclosed in it.

THE PYTHIAN CONVENTION.

No "written permit from the mayor" will be required in order to hold the State Convention of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias in Kingston during the last week of July, because that is not a gathering or assemblage to which the public are invited or have access. But a "written permit from the mayor" will be needed before the street parade can be held. When Palmer Canfield, Jr., as head of the state organization, applies to Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., for the parade permit, there will be a moment of breathless silence, to be broken only by the formal thanks which he will extend to himself for his own courtesy. It will be an impressive sight which each alderman ought to witness.

Others, of course, will be debarred from attending unless such gathering, assemblage or demonstration shall be "authorized by a written permit from the mayor."

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Why do some leaves of a spray grow longer than others?

Because if they were all the same length, they would lap over each other and cut off some light from themselves. This is why leaves vary so on a spray, some having a stem to attach them to the main stem (a petiole), and to hold them away from it; while others (particularly at the tip) grow immediately on the main stem (are sessile). In this arrangement the maximum amount of light works on the leaf surfaces, enabling them to use it for a sort of plant digestion.

2. Do rattlesnakes or other poisonous snakes lay eggs?

Rattlesnakes are viviparous, that is, they bring forth live young. So do the deadly moccasins. On the other hand, the coral snake, decidedly poisonous, is oviparous—an egg layer.

3. If a bird's toenail is torn off accidentally, does another grow on?

That depends on how bad the accident is. If the formative cells at the base of the claw are destroyed, a new one cannot grow. But if only the nail has been pulled out, a new one should grow just as finger-nails do.

BATH HOUSE CASE COMES TO AN END

Terwilliger Falls To Perfect His Appeal From Last Verdict. Favorable To Browning, King & Co., And Sheriff Collects Costs From Him.

The great bath house case of Frank W. Terwilliger against Browning, King and Company, finally has been determined in favor of the defendants. The case was one of the most important and sensational in this county, and resulted in the largest verdict ever rendered by an Ulster county jury, a verdict which was summarily set aside by the appellate division.

The action arose out of the construction of the McAdoo tunnel under the North river. Browning, King and Company, large manufacturers and dealers in men's clothing who conduct stores in twenty-seven cities in the United States and in Canada, and the members of which rank among the American millionaires, owned and conducted a large store at the junction of Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, New York city. The basement of the building was fitted up in the most lavish style with marble walls and silver plated plumbing fixtures for a Russian and Turkish bath, and was leased to Frank W. Terwilliger, a resident of the town of Lloyd in this county, who conducted a bathing establishment there under the name of the Herald Square Baths.

When William G. McAdoo, son-in-law and secretary of the treasury under President Woodrow Wilson, constructed the so-called McAdoo tunnel under the North river, he found it necessary to take part of these baths for the purposes of his tunnel. Under the authority of the Rapid Transit Act passed by the legislature, he did so. Terwilliger was derelict in the payment of his rent, and Browning, King and Company took proceedings to evict him from the premises. Terwilliger claimed that he had made a tender of his rent, which had been refused, and that his landlords in evicting largely were influenced by the hope of a contract to furnish the McAdoo tunnel employees with uniforms, and he brought the action to recover heavy damages against them.

After various interlocutory motions, the case came on for trial before Judge Rudd and a jury at the court house in this city on the 18th day of March, 1919, the trial taking an entire week. The jury, after being out all night, disagreed.

It was tried a second time before Judge Howard and a jury in May, 1919, again taking a week, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of Terwilliger for $131,000. From this the defendants appealed to the appellate division, where the case was argued in May, 1920. The appellate division in a pungent opinion by Presiding Judge John M. Kellogg reversed the verdict and ordered a new trial on the ground of erroneous rulings made by Judge Howard.

The third trial was before Judge Rosch and a jury at the court house here in March of this year, the case then taking ten court days to try. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants. From this Terwilliger served a notice of appeal to the appellate division, but never perfected his appeal, whereupon an execution was issued to Sheriff Kolls, who on Friday handed to Judge Clearwater a check for the amount of the costs awarded to Browning, King and Company, which he had collected from Terwilliger under an execution issued on the final judgment.

During the entire litigation Terwilliger was represented by Judge Augustus Van Wyck, former Democratic candidate for governor, and his associates, Messrs. Lozier and Reinstein, of New York city. Charles P. Northrop of New York and Judge Clearwater represented the defendants.

One of the sensational incidents of the case was the production on the trial before Judge Howard of an unexecuted contract between Browning, King and Company and the McAdoo Tunnel railroad people which one of Judge Van Wyck's colleagues claimed to have discovered among his papers one night at about midnight in the Stuyvesant Hotel in this city, and to have been unable to account for its appearance among the plaintiff's papers. The unexecuted contract played a most important part in the trial before Judge Howard, the verdict on which was set aside by the appellate division.

WHAT TIRE ADJUSTMENT.

Would You Want on One That Ran 17,464 Miles?

In 1919 Elbert S. Platt of Troy, N. Y., was touring from Troy to New York city and while passing through Kingston had tire trouble. He stopped at Brown's Vulcanizing Works on Broadway and purchased a new Diamond Corn tire from Harris Brown. This morning "Brownie" received a letter from Mr. Platt asking what adjustment could be had on the tire as it had gone bad after running 17,464 miles. The tire was originally guaranteed for 8000 miles and according to Mr. Brown's way of calculating he has a rebate coming from Mr. Platt for a little over the amount paid for the original tire since it has run over twice as far as it was guaranteed to run.

The letter, absolutely unsolicited, as Mr. Brown had entirely forgotten the transaction and does not know Mr. Platt, will be sent to the Diamond Rubber Company.

Mr. Platt, who gives his address as "Union Club, Troy," writes a brief history of the tire and in a postscript adds: "Faustically, what adjustment do you think I am entitled to on this tire?" and writes that he is sending the tire by parcel post. The tire, a Diamond Rib tread, Ford 32x3 1/2, was mounted by Mr. Brown and placed on the front right hand wheel of the Hudson landau on June 4, 1919, when the speedometer read 5,000 miles. The tire remained on that wheel of the 3,500 pound car for ten thousand miles and then was changed to the left front wheel, and on July 4 the tire went flat due to a pinched tube caused by a crack in the lining of the shoe. The tire had never been off the rim and the speedometer registered 22,464 miles, a total of 17,464 miles of service. "Brownie's" business motto is, "Brown Sells Good Tires Only."

Fighting Continues at Cork.

Cork, July 9.—In spite of the truce virtually reigning in the Irish capital, fresh bloodshed broke out here today. John Meloney, a former soldier, now a servant in the employ of the government, was taken out of his home and shot dead by masked men. Almost simultaneously an attack was made on the government barracks at Enily. One house was burned.

A Curb Crash.

A car driven by Joseph E. Smith of Kingston crashed into the curb at Simmons's corner on Barclay Heights, Saugerties, Thursday evening. The car contained two girls. None were hurt.

Coat Lost.

Any one finding a light coat with veteran of foreign wars button on lapel and army papers in pocket is asked to return at once to the City Hotel. It was lost between Kingston and Woodstock.

- is more reasonably priced than 86% of all automobiles with as long a wheel-base
- gives gasoline and tire economy unapproached by any other car its size (20 miles to a gallon and up to 15,000 miles on tires)
- provides driving pleasure in such greater abundance from its exclusive use of longer full-elliptic springs, that it has everywhere achieved the title of being "America's Most Comfortable Car"
- offers for the first time, a full-sized, roomy air-cooled car with plenty of power and "pep" on the hills.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

If you were to take a pencil and paper and make up an itemized record of all your expenditures during any week or month you would be surprised at the sum that had been spent foolishly.

A great many persons have learned to become habitual savers by enforcing a system of self-discipline through which they save what would otherwise have been spent to no purpose. Giving up a few of the frivolities or so-called pleasures in life, has started them on the road to a comfortable accumulation of money.

Those who squander their incomes or their means in spectacular methods are few in number compared with those who failed to save as the result of constantly yielding to impulses to spend small sums ill-advisedly. President Garfield once said:

"Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up. Experience teaches that it is the men and women who pay attention to small savings that become wealthy. By saving nickels and dimes, a thrifty person lays the foundation of a fortune."

If you are not an exemplar of thrift, you would do well to commit to memory these words of wisdom from the lips of a martyred president.

Garfield claimed the highest gift and greatest honor within the power of the people of this nation to bestow because he was fundamentally a thrifty man.

He fought his way upward from poverty and obscurity. He knew the value of nickels and dimes, and made them count just as he knew the value of minutes and hours, and made them count in the creation of a great and illustrious career.

Had Garfield, in his youthful days, yielded to every small impulse to spend his small earnings in ways that might have brought him temporary pleasure, he would no doubt have died a poor and unknown man.

Do not minimize the importance of little things in life. We live our lives minute by minute and hour by hour, and life is mostly made up of a series of small events. We go upward or downward step by step.

Resist the small impulses to squander. If you follow this plan closely life will hold many good things for you. You will not be a failure and the chances of your great success will all be in your favor.

STATE WINS IN APPELLATE COURT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., July 9.—The state of New York won 34 out of 43 cases decided by the appellate division of the supreme court, third department, yesterday. The number of successfully prosecuted cases constitutes a record in the appellate courts for the state.

Among the important litigations decided by the appellate division was the test claim of John Heinoman, a special agent of the state excise department, who instituted an action to recover against the state for the loss of his salary which was expunged from the appropriation bill. The appellate division sustained the contention of attorney general Charles D. Newton that Heinoman had no cause of action. The effect of this decision will be effectually to dispose of the claims of some 200 agents whose salaries were cut out of the budget.

The American Karakul Fur Sheep Company of Syracuse, organized to promote the production of high grade Persian lamb fur and astrachan in this country by the development of Karakul sheep, now raised only in Afghanistan, lost its suit for $16,000 for damages to its flock by dogs in 1917 and 1918, in a decision by the appellate division. This concern sought to recover from the state after dogs had made serious depredations among its flock.

WET PARADE FAILURE

Says Local Reformer Who Calls For Observance of Law.

Editor, Kingston Freeman:—It would seem that the events of this week should not pass without having attention called to them. For weeks and even months the papers of New York city most of them as wet as the Atlantic ocean, (whether made so by the brewers and distillers' gold, or by their own depravity) have announced that on July 4, birth of the nation, when love for our country should have a new birth they would have a demonstration which would show the nation that the eighteenth amendment was not binding on the people, or at least was repudiated by our citizens. A campaign was organized to get people and organizations to sign up to march with a great company who were opposed to Prohibition.

They even went so far as to state that over 200,000 had pledged themselves to march in the parade and as others would come, they would have at least a quarter of a million in line.

Their courage began to fail them a trifle but one that day preceding the demonstration they declared that there would be 100,000 in line. But the glorious Fourth came but the people did not, and the "World" of New York, which could not be any wetter if owned by the liquor traffic—and indeed some think it is—declared there were but 12,000 who marched under the banners which proclaimed defiance to law.

The forces which stand for Prohibition and righteousness could not have staged anything which would have strengthened their cause as much as this.

The "World" also admitted that nine out of every ten were foreigners and now past middle life—evidently derelicts of the heretofore drinking masses.

It was a clear illustration of Psalm 2, 4, "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh; the Lord shall leave them in derision." And there is another scripture passage, "He will make the wrath of men praise Him."

If ever the Prohibition forces should take courage it is now. Evidently all necessary money to stage this monster demonstration was at hand; personal liberty doctrines were shouted from the house tops, almost all the debauched press of the metropolis heralded its coming from day to day and the mayor gave it his blessing and stood to review the march and with everything, humanly speaking, done which could be done, it was a flat failure.

The temperance forces with a half million of dollars would have been unable to do this cause as much good.

The eighteenth amendment has come to stay, notwithstanding the ravings of depraved men. Some of them with a name and standing which should place them in better company than they have selected.

I wish to add one word more—We are passing through a season of great lawlessness and crimes. Has it occurred to those who by precept and example have defied the eighteenth amendment that when one law is in violation against in high places, that other laws will become cheap to those who are inclined to lawlessness, and that any or all of them will be broken?

Without question the wholesale attempt by the press to make people break the eighteenth amendment has led to this reign of lawlessness and crime.

PUBLIC UTILITY SECURITIES

Public Utility Securities are rapidly gaining favor with conservative investors. This is based largely upon the broad and constructive position taken by the various State Commissioners. The following recent quotations from various Commissions will be of interest:

ARIZONA: "We do not believe that it was intended that the regulatory powers vested in this Commission should be used to the disadvantage or inequity of the public utilities of the State and we believe we can render a greater service to the citizenship by giving rates which, while they are just and reasonable to the public, will enable the company to maintain a standard of service fully equal to the public necessities and provide for extensions of service, which will encourage rather than retard the growth and development of the State."

ILLINOIS: "Besides the cost of money, which varies with the prices of other commodities, it appears reasonable to reward management of a public utility

The above extracts of opinions of public utility commissions throughout the United States should prove of the greatest interest to the people of Kingston for the reason that this Company is now facing the necessity of spending a large amount of money to make its gas and electric service safe and adequate.

The only way in which it can raise the necessary funds is by the sale of its securities. Application is being made to the Public Service Commission for permission to issue such securities and it is of the utmost importance to every citizen, as well as to the city itself, that the Company succeed in doing so.

DEFENDS TAFT

From Derogatory Comment of New York Herald.

Judge Clearwater of this city writes as follows to the New York Herald, approving the appointment by President Harding of former President William H. Taft to the office of Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and gives his reasons.

Your paper occupies so important a position in American life, and wields so potent an influence in the moulding of public opinion, that it deeply is to be regretted that its comment upon ex-President Taft's appointment to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States should be predicated upon the misconception that he is not adequately fitted for that great office. Quite the contrary is the truth.

He possesses in a preeminent degree the qualifications of a great judge; profound love of justice; spotless integrity; comprehensive and accurate knowledge not only of fundamental legal principles but of the adjudicated law; a benign, forbearing and patient disposition; a graceful and attractive bearing; a large, ripened and practically unimpaired experience in dealing with grave public questions and the administration of justice. He possesses withal an intellectual detachment enabling him carefully to consider and accurately to weigh all that may be said upon either side of a debatable question before reaching even a tentative conclusion.

I write with greater freedom, because the advance of our remorseless and ancient enemy, Anno Domini, doubtless will inhibit my appearing before him, and although fully conscious of the danger of prophetic conjecture, it is without hesitation I venture to predict he will rank high among the greatest of the chief justices of that great court.

Mistakes in Price Advertisement.

Through a mistake it was stated in the large advertisement in The Freeman of Lewis Price, the Kingston Outlet Store, 290 Wall street, that "Boys' suits, all-wool material, hand tailored etc., were being sold for 47c. Instead it should be $4.75 which is the sale price. In another part of the advertisement it was printed, "Mens' suits, made of all wash materials, etc." which through mistake should have read, "All-wool materials."

Justice Seeger Decides in Green vs. Payne Estate—Court Doesn't Concur in Distinction Between "Country House" and "Country Place."

A decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of John Green, employed on the country place of the late Oliver H. Payne in Ulster county, against Payne Whitney, Lewis Cass Ledyard and Lewis Cass Ledyard, Jr., executors of the Payne estate, has just been rendered by Justice Seeger.

The action was brought to recover a legacy under Mr. Payne's will, which, after making specific bequests to certain employees in his household and upon his yacht, bequeaths:

"To each person not hereinbefore named who at the time of my death shall be in my service and shall then be customarily employed as part of my household in my house in New York city or in my country house in Ulster county, the sum of $3,000, if he or she shall have been in my service for two years, with the further sum of $200 for each year or portion of a year in excess of two years, and the sum of $1,000 if he or she shall have been in my service for less than two years."

Green was employed by Oliver H. Payne in March, 1910, at $40 a month and board, to take care of the dairy and chickens at the country place. At first he lived with the superintendent and later, when his wife arrived in August of the same year, he went to live at the farm house and continued to live there until the testator's decease.

The country place consisted of 1.40 acres, with a main dwelling house where the owner lived, and twelve cottages, a garage, power house, ice house, etc. The other employees on the place were a housekeeper, superintendent, butler, second man, furnace man, second engineer, three teamsters and nine or ten servants.

Green's duties were to take care of the cows and deliver the milk produced twice a day at the room in the main house called the dairy, there wash the cans, and while there have his breakfast; to test the milk there two or three and sometimes four times a month, also to take care of the fowls and deliver the eggs at the main house, and occasionally, when requested by the housekeeper, to deliver surplus eggs among the tenants who lived in the cottages, and sometimes, when requested, to deliver broilers at the main house.

The executors contended that, by the use of the term "country house" in one article of the will, as contrasted with "country place" in another, and because of the express mention of George Taylor, the chauffeur, in the first article, the testator indicated his meaning, in referring to a general class of persons in the second article, to distinguish between service rendered in the house and on the place.

Justice Seeger, in an opinion, says: "I do not agree with this proposition. As to the chauffeur, he was not employed in the house. In fact, his work was upon the highways. And there were two chauffeurs; they were customarily employed at the 'country house' or 'country place,' and without specific mention it is questionable if they would take under this clause, and, doubtless, the testator so realized."

"It is my opinion that the plaintiff in testator's service was 'customarily employed as part of the household' of the testator in his 'country house.' The fact that he did not sleep in the main house, and took only his breakfast instead of all his meals there, does not take him out of the class. It is the service rendered that places him therein, not eating or sleeping in the house. The milk and eggs which he produced were for use in the house, and he delivered them there. He did his milk testing and washing of the milk cans there. This was an important part of the service, and required considerable time every day."

"The testator was a generous man. He desired to reward all his faithful household employees. It is hardly probable that a man so generous with his money would be so economical in the use of words as to attempt to create a distinction between the plaintiff and his other household servants by the use of the words 'country place' in one paragraph and 'country house' in another paragraph of his will. Plaintiff is entitled to judgment for the amount of his legacy."

Green's wife sued under the same provision of the will, but Justice Seeger decides against her. She resided in the farmhouse with her husband and children, and kept house for them. Beginning in 1912, and until 1915, she worked in the laundry two or three days a week, and while so employed took her dinner there. She was employed and paid by the day by the housekeeper for services rendered. In 1915 she became ill, and thereafter and until Mr. Payne's death rendered no service whatever. Justice Seeger says: "Such services as she rendered were not regular or customary, and her employment must be considered to have terminated with the last day's work she did. She does not come within the class of persons mentioned in the will, and is not entitled to recover."—Newburgh News.

"The Inside of the Cup" is showing at Keeney's for the last times tonight. "Snooky, the Humanzee," and the children lovable in "The One Best Bet," is the comedy. Monday Pearl White in "Beyond Price," a comedy drama.

Conway Tearle in "The Road of Ambition," the story of a man who was not satisfied, is being shown at the Auditorium tonight. Nicholas Zuschlog.

Fearless, unemployed and utterly disheartened, Nicholas Zuschlog, forty-year-old New York bricklayer, decided to commit suicide. He jumped from a pier in New York Bay. The water chilled his suicidal ardor, and the swim around. A plank about six feet long floated by and Zuschlog clambered on it. Plank and Zuschlog drifted seaward down through New York Bay, and finally, after twenty four hours, drifted into shore at Long Beach, L. I., twenty-five miles from the point he said he jumped into the water. Bathing at Long Beach were startled to see the plank and its passenger drifting shoreward. Venturesome male bathers swam out to meet Zuschlog, who was partly dressed and riding astride the plank. He was assisted ashore and after telling his story was arrested, at his own request, on the charge of vagrancy.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1921 Western Newspaper Union.)

"You can make whipped cream? Pray what relief will that be to a sailor who wants beef?"

"Cum Grano Salis."

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

A good salad to serve with game is prepared as follows: Drain the shrimp from a can of peaches; arrange the halves of fruit on head lettuce and pour over the following dressing: Mix two teaspoonsful of sugar with one teaspoonful of celery salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, a few grains of cayenne, five drops of tabasco and add, gradually, four tablespoonfuls of corn oil, or olive oil, and two tablespoonfuls of lime juice.

Snuggle Pudding.—Hollow out little cup cakes and fill with the following mixture: Three cupfuls of prunes rubbed through a sieve or colander, one tablespoonful of gelatin dissolved in two cupfuls of boiling water, one cupful of whipped cream, one teaspoonful of vanilla, and sugar to taste. Mix and set in a cold place to harden, then put into the cake cups when beginning to set.

Fudge Wafers.—Prepare a fudge by using two cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of milk; one-third cupful of corn syrup, a tablespoonful of butter, boiled to the soft ball stage. Set away to cool, then add vanilla and maple; if chocolate is liked, a square of chocolate may be added and boiled with the mixture. Stir until beginning to thicken, then spread on graham crackers; cover with another and put away in a box to harden. These are nice to serve with tea.

Allerton Potato Salad.—Cut a cucumber in small dice; add an equal quantity of thinly sliced celery and half the amount of English walnut meats, broken very small; one-third the quantity of green pepper put through the meat chopper and squeezed dry in a cloth; add two cupfuls of cold diced potatoes and mix with mayonnaise. Serve on a lettuce leaf a slice of tomato, a spoonful of the salad, another slice of tomato, and garnish with mayonnaise and shredded chives.

Canned peas, drained and mixed with a half-cupful of chopped pickles and the same amount of chopped peanuts, served with salad dressing, makes a tasty salad.

Bird Sanctuaries in Canada. Bird sanctuaries are being created in suitable places throughout Canada to protect the breeding grounds of water-fowl and other important bird localities. The protection of water-fowl in the great plains is most important. The water-fowl need the protection because of the increase in agriculture and the drainage of many of their former nesting areas.

Blame the Dentist.

The gums more frequently lose their strength and become feeble from lack of care, but sometimes a poor dentist does much to bring about Riggs' disease. Ill-fitting crowns and bridges are a great menace to the gums and often result in the formation of pus, as do stumps of teeth and half-decayed roots which are attempted to be saved by crowning or are permitted to remain in the mouth.

Named "Empire State."

The name of the "Empire State" was first given to New York by George Washington, in his reply to an address from the New York city common council in 1784.

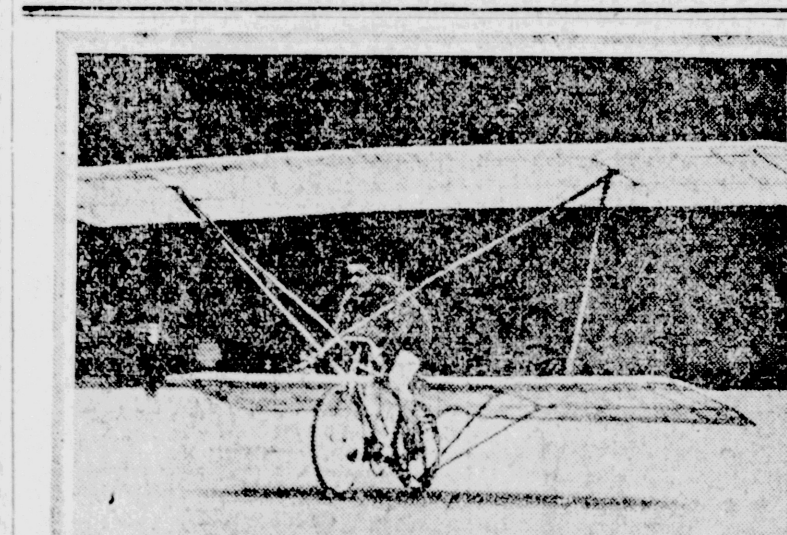

Miss Florence Selby.

Miss Florence Selby, of San Francisco, who had been selected by the Knights of Columbus as the prettiest girl in the Golden Gate City. She will head the bery of beauties who will welcome the thousands of Knights of Columbus to the International Convention in San Francisco August 2-3-4. More than 25,000 are expected to attend the convention.

There was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth in exclusive bootlegging circles when Uncle Sam, doughty arbiter of destinies and thirst, unlocked the doors of his high class bar at Los Angeles and sold his stock of fine liquor at an average of twenty-seven and a fraction cents per quart. The stuff had been seized on ships and from other sources by the Custom House officials. There were 202 bottles of the finest imported stock and it sold for $82. What a haul it would have been for the bootleggers who could have sold it at $20 a quart. Ben Aaron, the auctioneer presided over the sale which went to the highest bidder of licensed dealers in liquor.

Gabriel Poulain, French champion cyclist, about to leave the ground on his 'aviette' or cycleplane at a recent official test at the Longchamps race-course near Paris. Poulain flew five metres at a height of fifty centimetres, or about one and one-half feet, winning a big sum for the first successful 'flight' of this kind in a man-propelled plane.

How to Sell Bank Robbers. Shutters of solid bullet-proof steel that drop instantly to cover the openings of a cashier's booth on the pressure of a button constitute a new solution of at least one phase of the hold-up problem. The metal sheets are hung in a concealed position above the booth windows and may be released by a button at the cashier's hand or by other buttons outside, so that even an unoccupied booth is protected. Small panholes permit the sheltered cashier to open fire upon the intruder if opportunity offers, and the electrical connection of the drop also sets an 18-inch alarm gong to ringing with noisy vigor.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"Elephant's Ear." The "elephant's ear" is a Hawaiian or Fijian plant, with very large, bright green leaves, used to give subtropical effect in bedding. The rootstock is planted in good, moist soil out of doors or started in a hothed or a greenhouse and transplanted. In the fall it is stored where dampness and frost cannot reach it. In the Pacific islands the rootstock is used for food extensively, the poi of Hawaii being made from it. The plant is called taro.

Leprosy Not Fully Understood. Leprosy is still somewhat of a puzzle to medical science, and the means by which it is spread has never been satisfactorily determined. The house is suspected of occasional agency in the matter, but the case against that insect has never been proved. In a considerable majority of cases studied personal contact with lepers seemed unquestionably to be accountable for the infection.

Little David, four, had been unusually naughty and his mother threatened to put him to bed and "spank him in the bargain." After a moment's thought David exclaimed, "Mother, where's the bargain?"

SOCIETY NOTES.

Miss Helen DuBois of Wallkill and Theodore Millsbaugh of Liberty, Sullivan county, were married Tuesday at Wallkill.

Winne-Logan.

The marriage of Miss Bernice Plowden Logan of Swarthmore, Pa., to J. Albert Winne of Kingston, N. Y., took place in the Brick Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue, New York city, Thursday, July 7, at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hunter and witnessed by immediate friends of the families. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the Buttrick Room on the roof of the Pennsylvania Hotel. The bride wore a crown of pussy willow silk draped with Spanish lace and wore a picture hat to match. The couple have gone on a motor trip to Lake Minnewaska in the Shawangunk Mountains and after a stay there will make an extended trip through Canada. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Winne of 193 Main street, this city. Mr. and Mrs. Winne will be at home to all their friends after September 15, at 321 Park avenue, East Orange, N. J.

Hartshorn-Presler.

The attractive home of Mrs. Alice Presler on Milton avenue, Highland, was the scene of a pretty home wedding Thursday evening at half past eight when Mrs. Presler became the bride of George Hartshorn. The ceremony performed by the Rev. F. A. Coons, pastor of the Methodist Church, was before the fire place which was surrounded by palms and ferns and pink and white carnations, forming a pretty background. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. W. Blakely and the bride and bridegroom were preceded by five little flower girls, Emily Lent, Dorothy Graham, Helen Thompson, Emma Graham and Gladys Seaman, gowning in white with pink sashes and carrying baskets of flowers, and Ruby Robinson, a sister of the bridegroom, as ring bearer, dressed in pink. The ushers were Walter and Harvey Seaman. The bride's gown was flesh colored embroidered georgette crepe over satin, and her going away gown of brown. Following the ceremony punch, cake and ice cream were served the guests of which there were about one hundred present. The gifts were many and beautiful including many pieces of cut glass. J., Mrs. Laia Sutton and Harold Sutton, the Rev. and Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Ella Haight and the bridegroom's father, Aaron Hartshorn of Clintondale, Highland Post.

Let a Child Choose.

Children should never be forced into a line of work for which they show no aptitude, according to Dr. Edward J. Kempf, a New York psycho-pathologist and author, in an article in the New York Sun. "Many parents unwittingly warp their children's whole lives because they fail to realize the vital importance of letting the child pick its own natural bent," says Dr. Kempf, "and they hedge him in by doubts and taboos to the sacrifice of his personality."

Wild Horses Roam No More.

Sometimes in the isolated mountain canyons of the West horses are found of running loose, but while these might be termed wild, they usually belong to some rancher who has let them run loose. Wild horses are frequent in various parts of Arizona and occasionally are found in Utah. But the old wild horse herds of the mountain plateau regions have gone, probably forever.

Why He Wants a Red Light.

Daniel Schwab of Cornwall advertises in the newspaper there in a two inch two column advertisement reading, "I want to buy a big red light, and will pay a good price for it, providing it passes the 1st censorship of my neighbor, who complained to the village board about my not having my automobiles properly lighted at night. I am anxious to please my neighbor and obey the law."

"BLACK SOX" TRIAL SUSPENDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 9.—With four jurors accepted and sworn in, and two others tentatively accepted, proceedings in the trial of ballplayers and alleged gamblers, accused in the 1919 world's series scandal, were halted today until Monday. Press of other important court business made it necessary for Judge Friend to continue the case.

The list of witnesses to be called by the defense, will resemble a roster of major league baseball, according to announcement by Henry A. Berger, a leading attorney for the defense. Berger has asked subpoenas for every member of the 1919 White Sox club and will also ask that every member of the 1919 Cincinnati team which won the series from Chicago be summoned. The umpires who worked in the 1919 series likewise will be asked to appear.

Dempsey-Kearns Split Rumored.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—New rumors of a break between Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, were in circulation today. Dempsey is on his way to Salt Lake City and Kearns could not be located. A report from Atlantic City has it that Ed Bader, whose term as mayor will soon expire, is to succeed Kearns as manager. Dempsey, it is said, will refuse to renew his contract with Kearns on the grounds that Kearns is largely responsible for the charges of slackerism that have made Dempsey very unpopular. If any announcement of a split between the champion and his manager is made, however, it is thought to come from Dempsey.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

You Must Believe This.

Perhaps the most remarkable freaks of lightning was that related by John Still, the famous bishop of Wells. A storm broke over Wells cathedral during a service. Afterward the bishop, his wife and many members of the congregation found themselves marked with a cross on various parts of the body. Not a soul was injured by the lightning.

Her Heartless Conduct.

We read in the World Outlook that Bishop Thoburn was once dictating a letter to a native Indian stenographer. "I am sore over the matter and chagrined," he said. When the stenographer brought back the letter to be signed the bishop was astonished to read: "I am sore over the matter, and she grinned."—Youth's Companion.

"Potter's Field."

The term, which is applied to a place where the penniless and unknown are buried, had its origin in Matthew 27:7, when the chief priests "took counsel and bought with them (the thirty pieces of silver for which Judas betrayed the Master) the potter's field to bury strangers in." The name has clung to such plots ever since.
